SCONRA

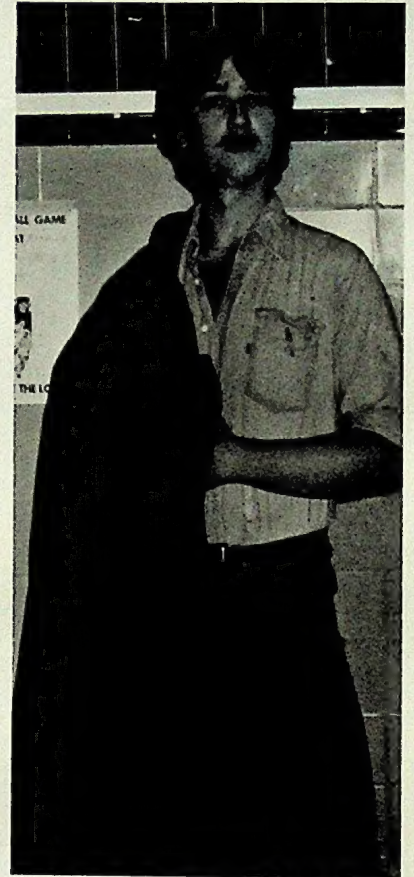

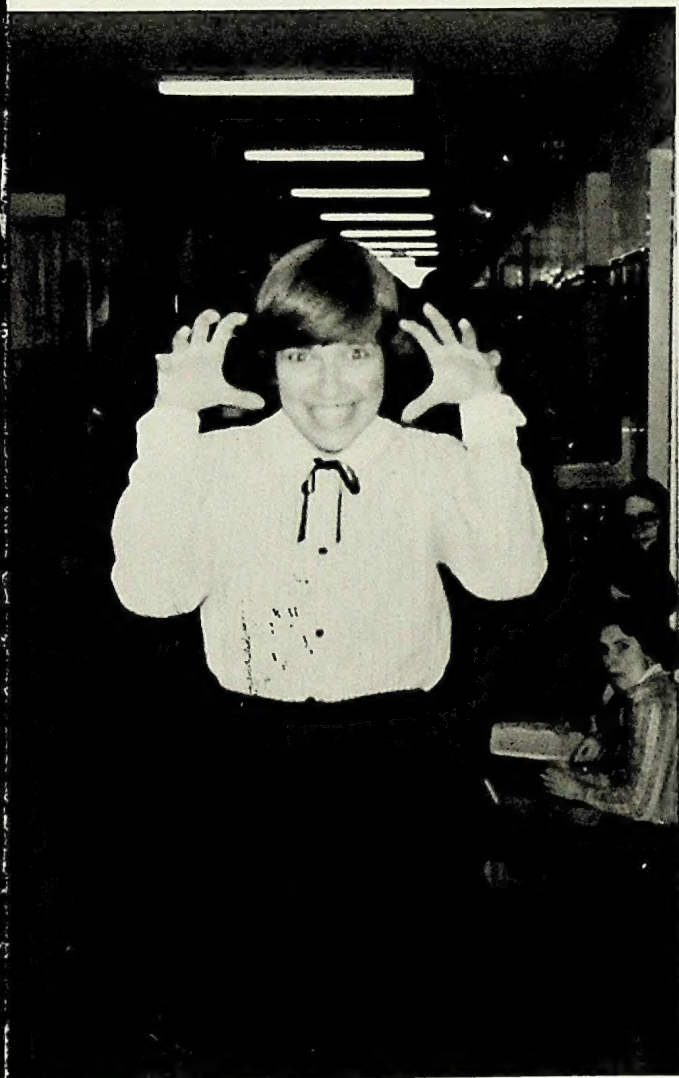

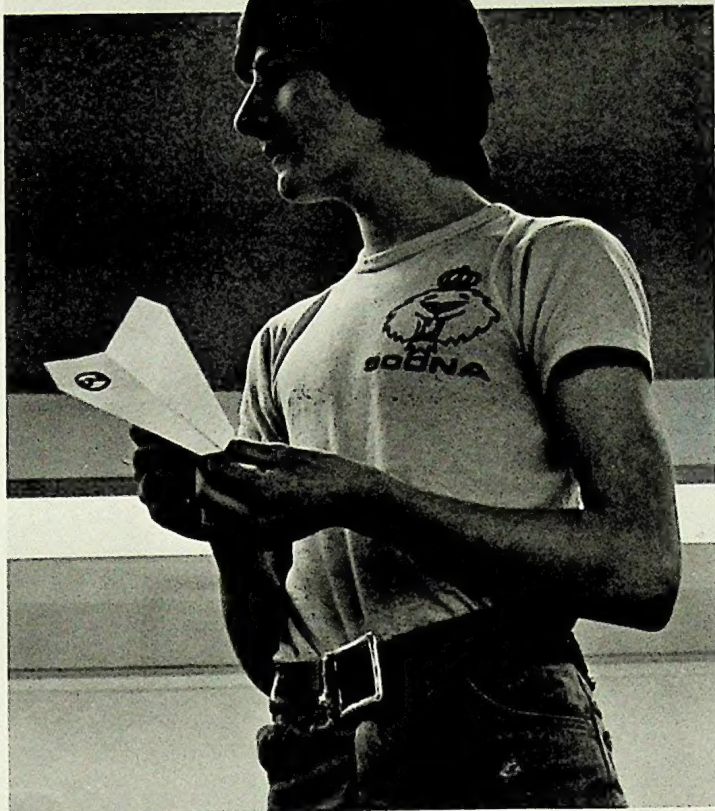

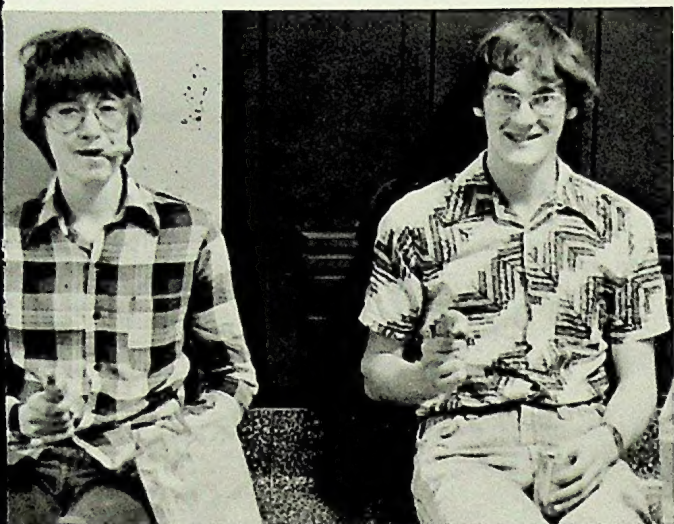

STRATHCONA COMPOSITE HIGH SCHOOL

EDMONTON, ALBERTA

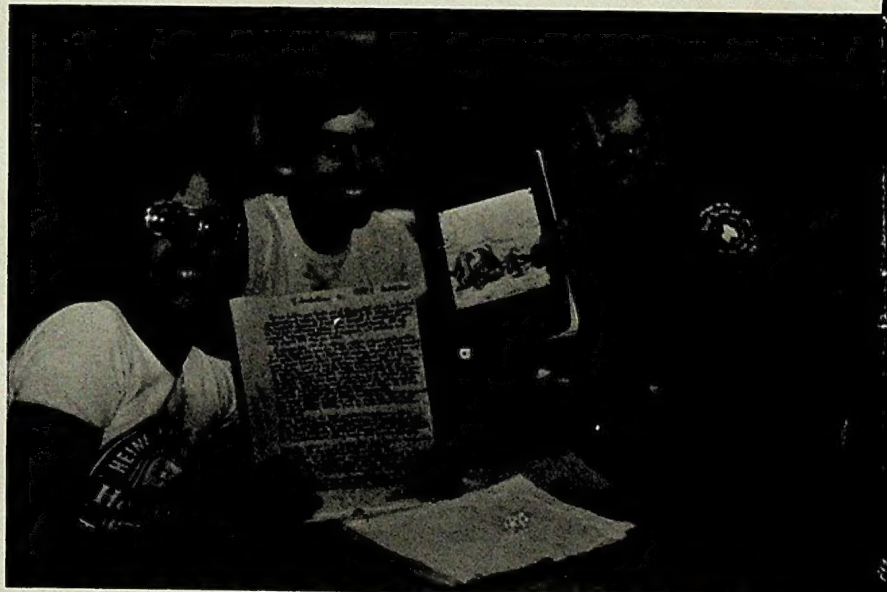

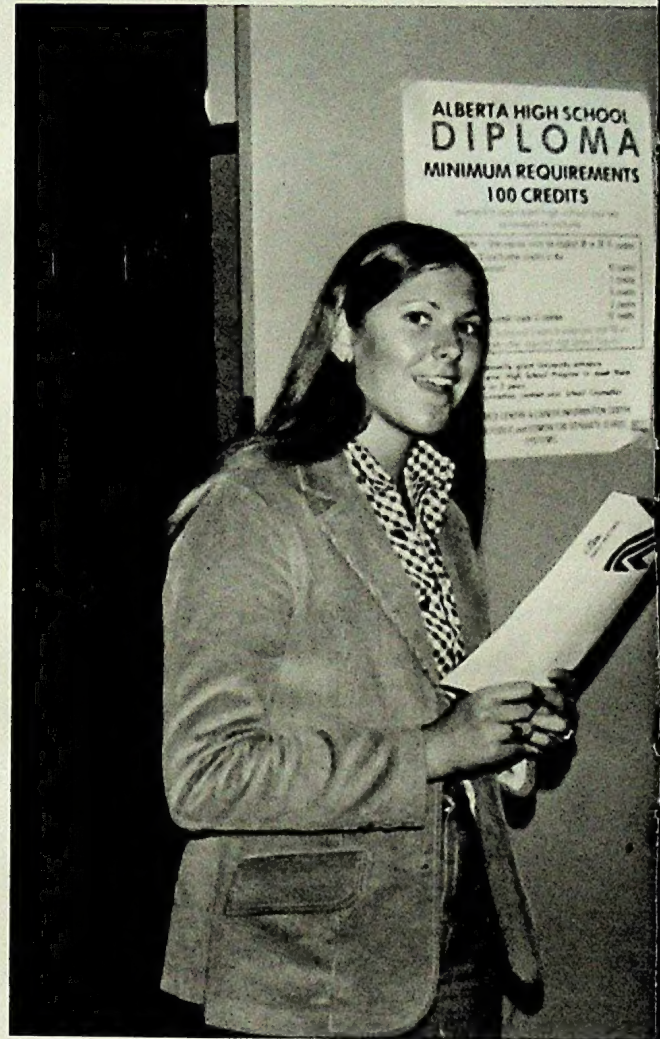

Life-so they say
Is but a game and they let it slip away

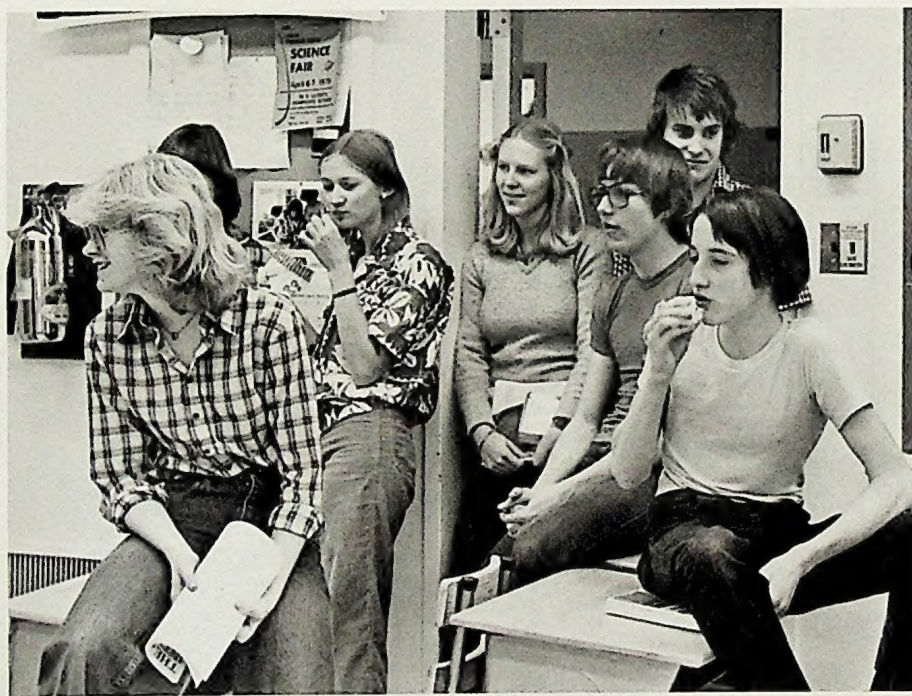

Love-like the Autumn sun
Should be dying but it's only just begun

Like the twilight in the road up ahead
They don't see just where we're goin'

And all the secrets in the universe
Whisper in our ears and all the years will come and go

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

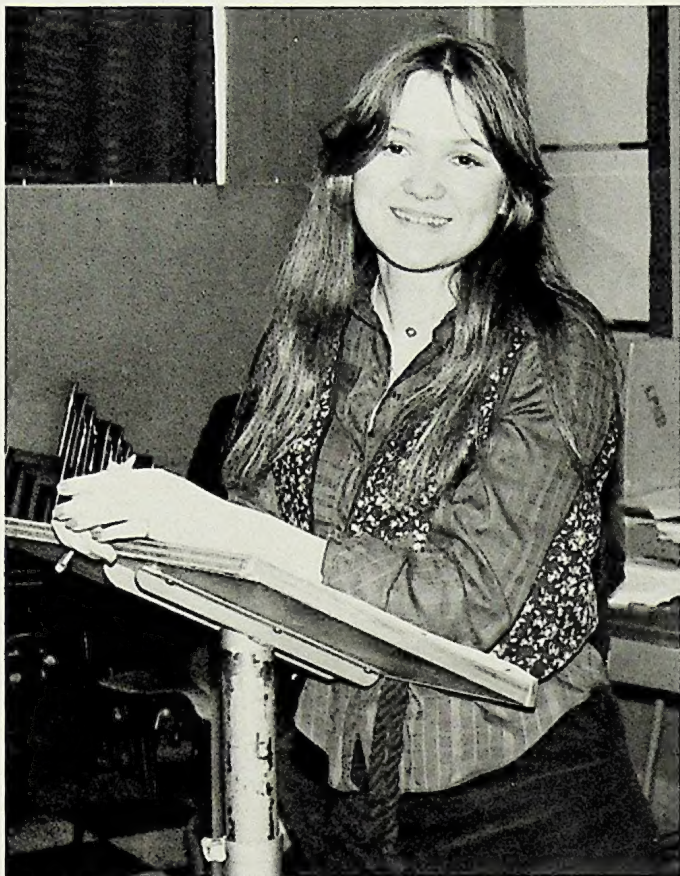

As you pass through high school, one of the most important contributions to your growth as persons will be the friends that you make here at Scona. In fact, the memories of these friendships will remain with you long after much of the materials studied have been forgotten. Friendships enrich our lives immeasurably, but we must constantly remember that they are fragile relationships that must be nurtured carefully as they are something you can't buy and can't command, but you can lose. Thus, we should strive to keep them refreshed, renewed, and in good repair. Sound friendships consist of many nameless acts. What matters is the intent - the intent to keep alive something mutually worthwhile. This happens when people remember each other, help each other, and meet each other more than half way. In Emerson's words "The only way to have a friend is to be one."

A 17th century essayist, Jeremy Taylor, defines friendship as the "greatest love, the greatest usefulness, the most open communication, the noblest sufferings, the severest truth, the heartiest counsel, and the greatest union of minds of which brave men and women are capable." During our lives, we will all have friendships which parts of Taylor's definition will touch or will completely embrace. However, whatever the scope or depth of each relationship, having had friends with which to share memories and experiences invariably intensifies the happenings. In addition, this mutual sharing of an experience improves the happy ones and lessens the unhappy ones by doubling our joys and dividing our griefs.

Let us remember as well the admonition of Socrates when he said, "be slow to fall into friendship but when thou are in, continue firm and constant." The rewarding warmth and strength that friendships add to our lives is worth any amount of extra effort on our parts. To lose a friend is to die a little. The reverse is also true - when you keep a friend, you add much to the richness and worth of your life.

Lee O'Keefe

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Fulfilling three years of Scona has made me a new person. It has developed me educationally, and socially as I associated with people my own age, and with the teachers. I am proud to have been a part of such a great school as Scona. I am sure I'm not alone in feeling the way I do about our school, my fellow graduates I am sure have appreciated their three years here. For those of you who are continuing, we hope that you too will be better equipped to face the future because of having spent time here.

Scona is a school of tradition, and I am grateful to have been a part of that tradition. I found out that teachers really are "human beings". I have never met a better staff of teachers; they really care about their students and want them to succeed. The guidance they give us each day, I know is cherished by every student in some way.

Our school spirit is a part of our school, and that's part of what makes it a great place to be. The overwhelming participation in our activities caused everyone's days to fly swiftly by, and kept our school on top.

So cherish your high school years, and remember they are a springboard to your future. Make the best use of your time, for we may never pass this way again.

Darlene Williams (Dino)
 There is a legend about a bird which sings just once in its life, more sweetly than any other creature on the face of the earth. From the moment it leaves the nest it searches for a thorn tree, and does not rest until it has found one. Then, singing among the savage branches, it impales itself upon the longest, sharpest spine. And, dying, it rises above its own agony to out-carol the lark and the nightingale. One superlative song, existence the price. But the whole world stills to listen, and God in His heaven smiles. For the best is only bought at the cost of great pain ... or so says the legend.

CLASS HISTORY 1979

Firstly, I would like to express to you the great honor it is for me to be chosen Class Historian and to be able to recall for the members of the Graduating Class some of the events that stand out in our past three years here at Scona. For the parents it gives you a chance to hear about some of the times we will remember down the road, just as you have remembered your past high school days, not so long ago.

It's hard to imagine it was only three years ago we were here at this gym for High School registration. It sure was different. After very innocently answering questions like, Book Rental? Bus Pass? Locks? Yearbook?, we found ourselves dishing out 50 bucks to get to the next table. Junior High was free! Then it was through the maze of tables and displays and onto the stage for I.D. Pictures. It soon was done and over with, we had our lockers, deciphered the teacher name code, and with books in hand we were set for High School. But!

Frosh-Week - the Seniors took full advantage of these gullable rookies as they had us clean floors with a toothbrush, count holes in fence sections, and many more things we as seniors failed to experience. And to find safety? There wasn't any. Our so-called Frosh "Cops" would hold on to you until a Senior had his hands free. All in all it was somewhat fun and ended with our first Senior High School dance that Friday night. Yes Sir, a night dance as in 9 o'clock p.m. When you finish a Senior High dance the gang goes for pizza. In Junior High, the sun is bright and it's home for supper. That was one of our easier transitions, as the dances, which ranged from Greaser to a noon hour Square dance, were always fun and had many high spirited Sconanites trying to forget the pressures of the class. Often, more was forgotten than pressures, as you parents who chaperoned well know. And yes, despite trying our hardest to stay on the other end of the gym, if OUR parents chaperoned, we are very grateful to you nonetheless.

Of course Scona is not complete without the athletic program. In the three years we have been here, 14 City Championship teams have brought home the hardware, an accomplishment that only superb coaching, quality athletes, class fans, and parents can make possible. Scona has them all.

Our noon hours were kept busy with the school's 25 clubs, especially the Radio Club, who gave us hours and hours of ... entertaining music. There were the Western days, Lack of Talent shows, Frisbee on the lawn, and of course, our first annual "Mr. Scona" contest which, despite the questionable judging, especially in the Bathing Suit area, was a great success.

Our Drama Department has put on 8 excellent productions and you who saw any of them I'm sure will agree with me that some of the city's best high school drama performances are here at Scona.

Our bands, under the guidance of Miss Estabrooks, have given us enlightening performances year after year, and just this March they travelled to Ontario on a band exchange.

Many other groups have spread the goodwill of Scona. French exchanges, European tours, Sports tournaments, and Student camps are some of the ways Scona students have carried the name of their school far and wide.

Organization was not always the foundation for activity here at Scona. Spontaneity claimed such favorites as, putting a car on the front steps, flooding the locker room, ripping off vending machines, pulling the fire alarm, shooting a game of pool across the street, or just the basic - skip a class. Yes, many days of our years became victim to these pastime favorites.

You can't forget to mention our teachers. We sincerely thank them for their time in and out of the class they spent with us. It will be a while before we forget Mr. Golightly's jokes, Mr. Dufresne's Guy and Gal announcements, Mr. Yeske's Ukranian approach to Math, Mr. Belmont's "25", and Mrs. Armitage's sweet smile. It was these people who have given us the attention and guidance to become the Graduating Seniors of '79.

School was not ALL good. We remember bad things, too, like cramming the night before a final, getting your report card that had matching "32's" for both absences and term mark, rushing home before Mom and Dad got off work to intercept those pink and yellow slips that were on their way, losing a big game, and having a smoking room closed. Scona was no paradise by any means but we did have it better than most.

In closing, I wish to mention the one area where Scona is better than them all, and that's the people. For three years we have been together, growing as individuals and taking the ups and downs of teenage life together. The friendships we have made and the people we have met made this school that much easier, and now as we face a new crossroad, many of us will be seeing the last of each other. Though it may be hard for some of us to break ties physically, the spirit will always be there, the spirit that will be part of many graduating classes to come, and the spirit that has kept Scona alive for 70 years.

I thank you, and all the best to the Graduating Class of '79.

Steve Breda

VALEDICTORY 1979

Can you imagine what Scona could be like in twenty, maybe thirty years? Picture this: shiny new robots instead of teachers; school lunches compressed into tiny green pills that fizz when they dissolve in your mouth; and of course, Mrs. Phipps, with an industrial arts degree that would enable her to repair the teachers when their joints needed oiling or their bolts needed tightening!

Our world is changing so fast, and as we graduate and move on in life, we will change too. The path of change that we choose to follow will be determined by the things we choose to value in our lives. For some people, money and success will be their prime motivator, constantly forcing them to want and strive for a goal that cannot be bought. For other people, a high school diploma or a university degree will be the symbol of prestige that is needed in their lives. Marriage, a family, the growth and learning one experiences as a parent - all these may be the ultimate goal for many people in this graduating class.

Money, success, education, marriage, and a family are all very important to every graduate. But there are other things for us to work for in our lives. Helping and working and sharing part of ourselves with other people, serving God, showing kindness and love, living as an example to our children, and always believing in the value and joy of life - these can be the most important things to value in our lives.

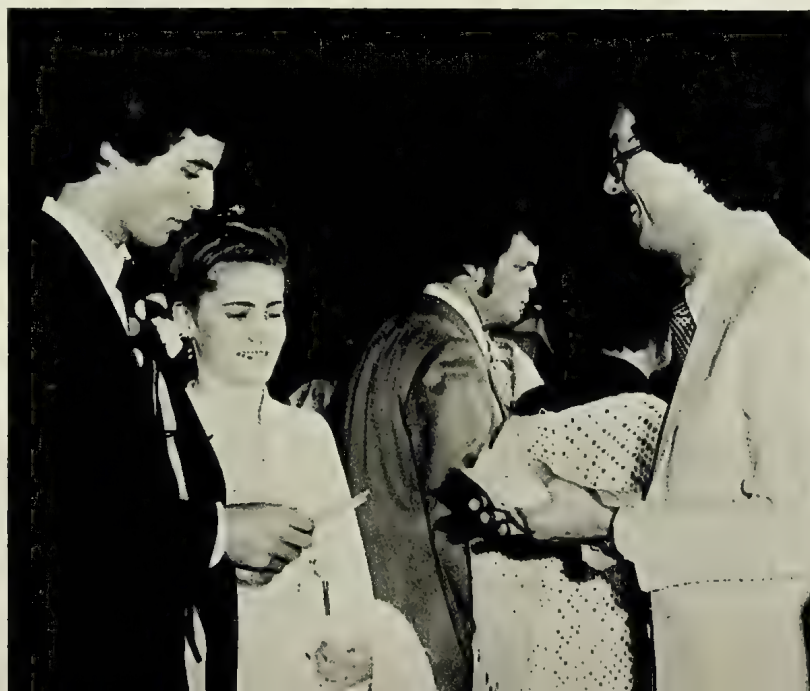

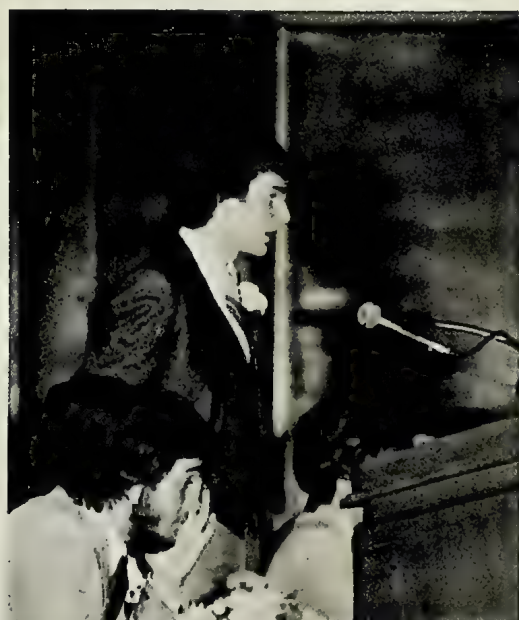

These past years in school and especially here at Scona have helped to give us an awareness of what is important in life. In addition to the fun and learning that we have experienced, our years in school have taught us that there will always be a need for human contact; one to one relationships between teachers and students or even two friends, in which one learns to give and receive. This kind of knowledge will help us to make the decisions that every person must make at some point in his or her life.

So, when you come back to visit Scona many years from now, and you see the changes that have taken place as the world has progressed, think about the things you value. Look at the priorities you have set in your life. And remember that the path or lifestyle that you have chosen to follow will make you into what you will become.

EVENTS

HALLOWE'EN

Scona Spirit was truly displayed at this year's Hallowe'en activities. Some teachers and many students dressed up. It was a tough decision for judges, but Terry Vold won the dress-up contest. Other activities included bobbing for apples, apples on a string and a pumpkin carving contest.

CHRISTMAS LIT

Those who attended this year's Christmas Lit were presented with an array of music, humour, and other 'talents'. This annual event and the carol singing in the main rotunda put everyone in the true Christmas spirit.

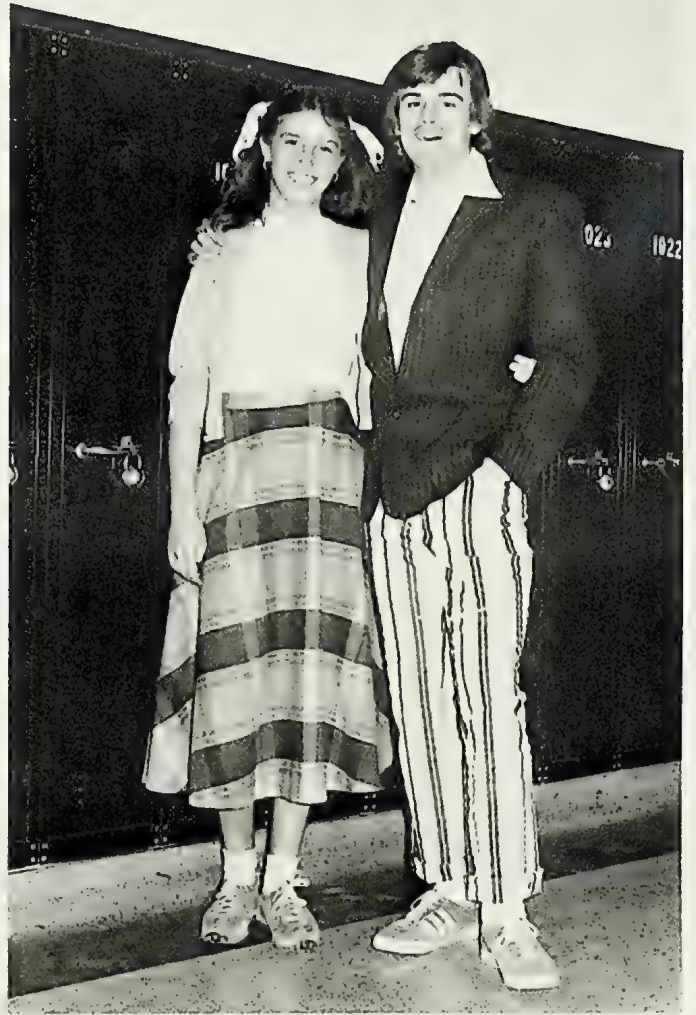

GREASER DAYS

Greaser Days found the students at Strathcona High School taking part in noon hour activities with the spirit of the '50's. The Greaser Dance ended the festivities of the nostalgic week.

LACK OF TALENT

The talented and not so talented displayed their acts to make this year's Lack of Talent Show a success. This year there were more participants than ever before, with fifteen acts. It was just another showing of the fine organization and "talent" that is possible here at Strathcona.

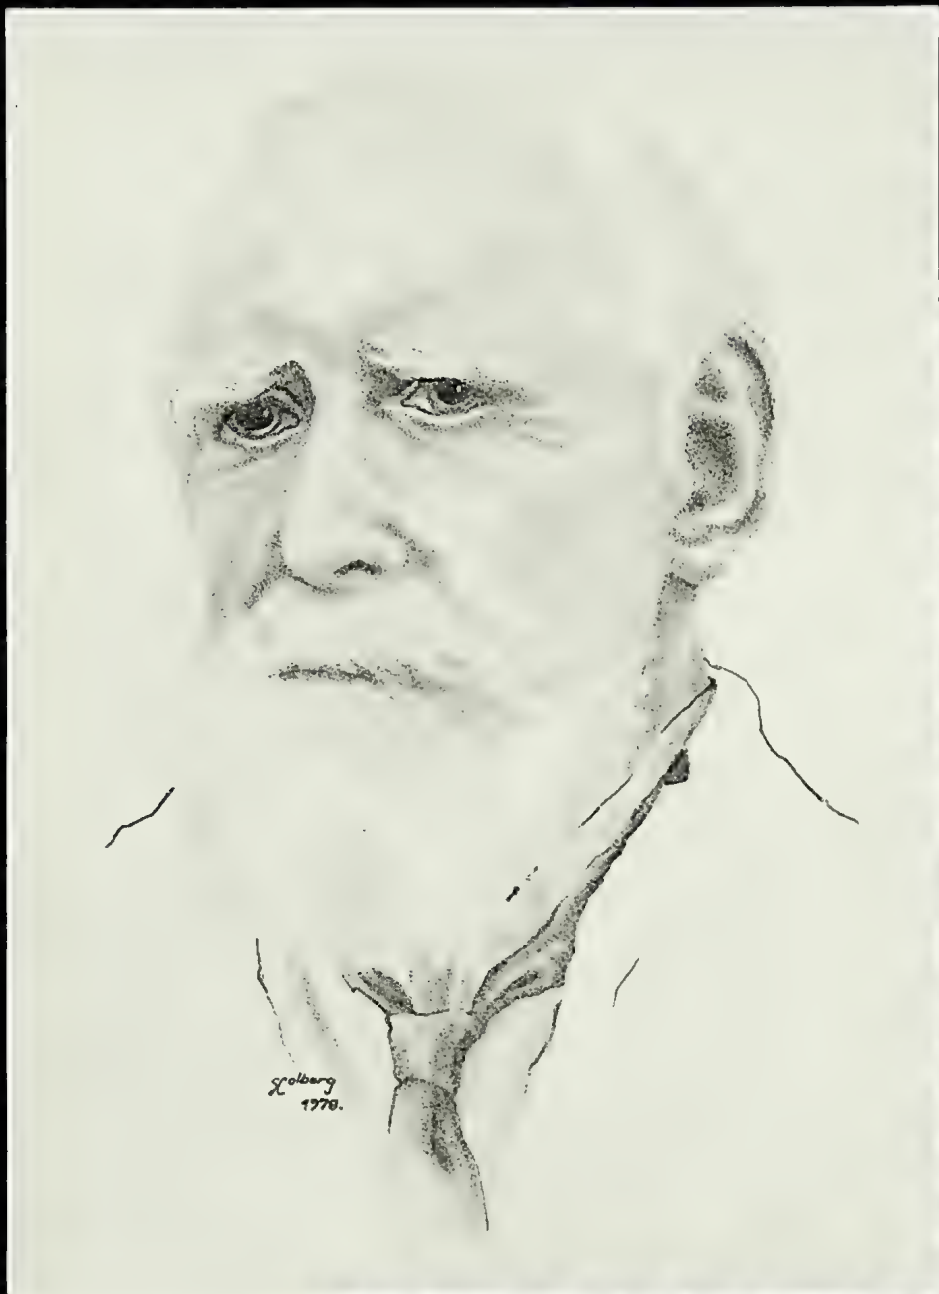

MR. SCONA

Mr. Scona was an expression of "self". Ten men faced the elements of roaring crowds, laughter, and humiliation as they went through the various competitions. These included the bathing suit competition, the "talent" category, and a question period. Rick Magee, Scona's "Macho Man", was crowned Mr. Scona 78-79.

CONCERT BAND

This year, Scona's Concert Band, Stage Band, and Choir, went to Ottawa for a musical and cultural exchange. Scona spent the first week in the nation's capital touring and playing concerts in the vicinity of the Ottawa area. The following week the South Carlton Band returned with the Scona musicians to perform and tour such places as the Alberta Game Farm, and the Muttart Conservatory. In general, it was thought that the Music Exchange was a great success, and that a good time was had by all. A special thanks must go to Miss Estabrooks and Leanne Hewlett for their organizational support.

HANDS

Hands are fascinating creations:
 Hands are to build Great Bridges over Roaring Rivers
 Hands are to develop medicines that cure dreadful diseases
 Hands are to write novels that conquer one's mind
 But most, Hands are created to hold someone else's hand in peace, love and trust.

I AM ME!

Take me for what I am,
 Not for more or less.
 Respect me for my judgement
 For I too make mistakes.

Respect my views of love and life
 Respect my differences that may seem weird
 And love me for me.

I am not an artist or a genius
 I am me.
 Take me for the person I am
 Not for the person you think I should be.
 For if I live up to your expectations
 I will fail myself.

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

Making a yearbook is a lot of "fun". It includes: organizing groups for pictures, developing pictures, planning layouts, doing layouts, labelling pictures, drawing, typing, and proofreading. Sounds exciting, doesn't it? ... Well, it is! The most rewarding aspects of working on a yearbook, are working with people and producing a finished yearbook!!

This year we tried to introduce some new ideas and techniques. At times, this was difficult because members of the yearbook staff were also involved in other extra-curricular activities. However, we did eventually find the time to finish it! We had such problems as lost negatives, machine washed negatives, jobs, school, and money, to deal with. I'm proud to say that we survived, and luckily, the yearbook did too!!

I'd like to thank all those people who took the time and effort to make the 1978-79 yearbook a success (!?!).

Special Thanks: Mrs. Lundberg, Mr. Adams, Tim Stonhouse, Susan Keswick, and the Markowski family.

*Dreams-so they say
Are for the fools and they let them drift away*

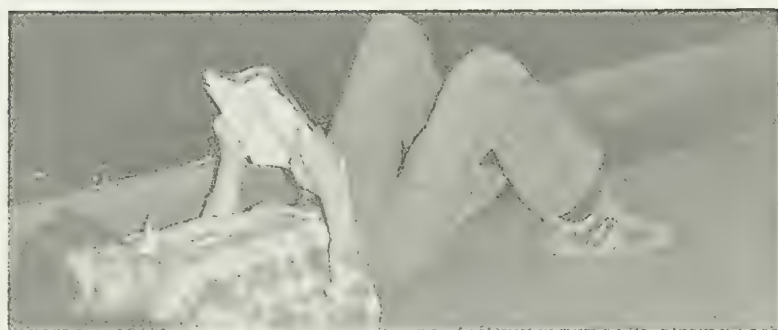

*Peace-like the silent dove
Should be flyin' but it's only just begun*

*Like Columbus in the olden days
We must gather our courage*

*Sail our ship out on the open sea
Cast away our fears
and all the years will come and go*

WE MAY NEVER PASS THIS WAY (AGAIN)

Life-so they say
Is but a game and they let it slip away
Love-like the Autumn sun
Should be dying but it's only just begun
Like the twilight in the road up ahead
They don't see just where we're goin'
And all the secrets in the universe
Whisper in our ears and all the years will come and go
And take us up, always up

We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again

Dreams-so they say
Are for the fools and they let them drift away
Peace-like the silent dove
Should be flyin' but it's only just begun
Like Columbus in the olden days
We must gather all our courage
Sail our ship out on the open sea
Cast away our fears and all the years will come and go
And take us up-always up

We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again

So I wanna laugh while the laughin' is easy
I wanna cry if it makes it worthwhile
I may never pass this way again
That's why I want it with you
'Cause you make me feel like I'm more than a friend
Like I'm the journey and you're the journey's end
I may never pass this way again
That's why I want it with you baby

We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
We may never pass this way again
